

Humans of El Camino de YFU 2016

Birgit, Germany

I was curious to see this famous way, wanted to do it since some time and now this was the opportunity to share it with other interesting people from YFU. It was a great experience to see wonderful landscapes, to walk long distances, getting to know new friends and to meet so many people from all over the world on the way.

Wayne, China

I was inspired by the introduction of the El Camino de Santiago. Besides, I was in need of a disconnection from my busy and demanding job. So I applied for this trip without any hesitation. During the journey to the west, I met a group of people from different countries and have made friends with them. We shared our feelings and ideas towards life and our future. And I will cherish this most valuable part in my future life.

Gerardo, Mexico

I was there on a gratitude trip to my body for staying healthy and allowing to enjoy life. It is a wonderful opportunity to spend time with yourself and learn to not need anything but you.

Sarah, USA

I liked the challenge aspect of the trip. The daily hikes and group reflection appealed to me, and I thought the trip would strike the right balance between activity and learning about a new place and culture.

Stefanie, Germany

I was looking forward to meet new people and was very confident that it would be an interesting and nice group - since everybody was engaged with YFU and I was sure had stories to tell. An Alumni Program of that sort, was just what I had been waiting for. I love to do outdoor and was curious to experience a bit of Spain. Walking and Talking - a perfect match 🖨 - The fact that this was a Pilgrimage was the actually unknown thing to me. I liked it a lot. Step by step with all the "Buen Camino" wishes exchanged on the way you come to understand what the Camino is actually about. That was certainly stimulated by the gentle tuition of our reflecting evening sessions. So all together a wonderful and rich experience!
